ratel in the State of South Carolina.

Mr. Jillson, from the Committee on the Removal of Political Disabilities, to whom was referred the petitions of J. S. Linder, J. W. A. Harkness and Dr. C. M. Rivers, reported back the same, with a recommedation that the prayers of the petitioners be granted, and accompanied by a concurrent resolution, that the General Assembly recommend to the Congress of the United States the removal of their political disabilities. Ordered for consideration on Monday.

Monday.
Hayne, of the special committee on the pen-tientiary, submitted the following report, which was ordered for consideration on Monday:

The special committee on the penitentiary, to whom was referred the message of his Excellency R. N. Scott, Governor, relative to the South Carolina Penitentiary, have considered

the same, and beg leave to report:
That they fully concur with his Excellency that a change in the ponitentiary is necessary to the protection of the public interest. Now that his Excellency has come to this conclusion, they venture to hope that the change may be speedily effected. Upon reference to the "Act to provide for the government or the South Carolina Penitentary," passed September 23, 1868, second section, it will be seen the Governor has power to appoint a superintendent by and with the advice, and consent of the nt, by and with the advice and consent of the ent, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. By the thirteenth section of said act, the Governor has also power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint three directors of the State Penitentiary. These several officers once appointed have such powers, and are under such restrictions, that your committee can but believe a great improvement will speedily take place in the ment will speedily take place affairs of the pointentiary. When his Excel-lency shall have made the appointments, your committee recommend immediate action on the part of the Senate. Till then your committee conceive no action to be necessary on the part of the Senate. The bill to organize and govern the militia of

The bill to organize and govern the militia of the State of South Carolina was taken up for a second reading, and considered by sections. Quite a large audience gathered in the Senate chamber to hear the discussion on this bill. It was known that Senator Leslie was resolutely opposed to the bill, and, it was reported, would fight it to the end. I append a short synopsia of the speech, which occupied about two hours in delivery.

Mr. Leslie moved that the further consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed. He carried the bill home with him last night, but not, he said, like Daniel Webster or Hayne, to sucep over it, neither did he sleep on it. He was not, therefore, prepared to do justice to was not, therefore, prepared to do justice to the subject. He desired to say that of all men in this world the most practical are the Yanin this world the most practical are the late-kees, and this State government practically is a government that if it is not Yankee, it is pretty well Yankeeized. It was right, too, he thought, that it should be so. All there is of progress in this country, all there is of popular advancement and education, has come directly from the North, and he challenged any one to deny it.

Now, then, the Senate is called upon to pass a bill to organize and govern the militia of South Carolina. They were sitting there as practical men, and they meant to be practical. They advertise to be practical, and that is the reason why the party to which most of them belonged had, so far, succeeded. They them belonged had, so far, succeeded. They are a party of progress, a party of knowledge, a party of life, and a party that is practical in every sense of the word—slow to action, slow to anger, but practical whenever they move. The militia, he contended, could only be called out, practically speaking, in two contingencies. In case the civil authorities—the sheriff, for instance—from combinations of the opposition, is unable to enforce the law, and the people become so riotous that he cannot keep the peace, he has under the law the right to read the riotact, and if he cannot disperse them, then the act, and if he cannot disperse them, then the militia is called out. The second is when the Governor declares martial law in any county in Governor declares martial law in any county in the State. As to the first case, he would ask any friend of the bill it there had arisen a case in the State of South Carolina where the militarcould have been legally and properly called out if organized. Perhaps somebody would say, "yes they killed a man up in Abbeville." Well, they could not use the militia to arrest that man. They might kill a half dozen up in Newberry, and they could not use the militia to arrest those parties.

It was as he had said before, that there

It was, as he had said before, that there were only two contingencies in which the militia could be used. When could the Governor declare martial law? Not unless the conduct of the people throughout any locality of the State is such that it is impossible to enforce the law, and where the civil officers are pretented from discharging their duty. When the people become so riotous and are in such force that the civil officers cannot serve or enthen the Governor can de-

Up to this time there had been no possible contingency in which the militia could be used, and if it could not up to this time, when under heaven will they be called upon for militia duty? How long will it take to organize the militia, and put it practically into being? You have got to get the men to come up and be enrolled, you have got to get guns and clothing, and then you must have a Quartermaster-General, and a Surgeon-General, whose business it is to heal all the aliments, and somebody else to iurnish all the uniforms, coats, hats and boots, and then you have to get some one to conteat for them. Well, after they have done all that sort of business, I ask the friends of the bill in what year of the Lord will probably commence operations? If no cases have yet arisen, I ask in what other year of our Lord they can arise? Up to this time there had been no possible of our Lord they can arise? I think that the people, and I desire to say I think that the people, and I desire only it to the opposition, to the Democracy of this State, to the Radicals of this State, and to all not within those two parties, that propose to disturb the peace of the State after the last election, and are persistent in making covert war upon reconstruction and the State Government of South Caroline, that their labors in substantially corrected. There are counties in this State that have a very bad reputation, where some have not acted with order, nor in the true interests of all the people. Of my own district, Barnweil, I have a right to say that a more peaceable people does not exist, and not a single case of touble or difficulty has arisen. Each, man made a crop, and every one is in a good living condition. The price of land was advanced one hundred per cent. I say, the minds of the people are directed towards the fature, and to progress, peace and prosperity. If there is any portion of the people of South Carolina, in Newberry, Abbeville or Edgefield, who are determined to roam over this land Carolina, in Newberry, Abbeville or Edgefield, who are determined to roam over this land and make it unsafe for officers to enforce the laws; if they intend to do as they did in Edgefield the other day to a magistrate appointed by Governor Scott, who was followed into the courthouse by four armed men, and would have been shot but for the presence of a friend; I say if the good men of Edgefield County do not rise in their whath to put down that style of lawless men, I promise to vote whatever is necessary of men or money to enforce the law. I call upon all the fair-minded men of the all to lose and everything to make, that they see to it that peace and order prevails.

Let me say right here that every county paper, every city paper, coming to us through the mails, bring joyful tidings and proofs of or Beaufort County, also, a compositive for the bar of Beaufort County on the same subject; also, a statement of his Honor Judge Z. such infernal scoundreis, and it the State Constable has not power enough, I will vote the last man and the last dollar to bring those desperadoes to justice, and if we cannot get enough men here we will get them from New York or go to Ireland to get the men. Let us strongthen the State (constable Wa mean these degrapages shall Constable. We mean these desperadoes shall not interpose or interfere to prevent the execution of the laws and to threaten officers with their lives. I pray my friends to so act as to foreclose forever the idea that the militia is needed in this State. Let us all resolve and re-resolve that every man at the North shall re-resolve that every man at the North snau understand that the people of South Carolina are, and mean to be, at peace with the who'e world, and that the Southern States, and South Carolina in particular, is the Alpha and Omega of America. If this policy shall be sustained, and the people act with care and caution, two years of such prosperity as the present year will give them more money than the know what to do with.

Let this milities bill right on the table. It is Lay this militia bill right on the table. It is a bill to create more officers. It is not a bill to make peace, but a bill to make war. I have a our realed in my predictions, but pass this bill, and if you get peace in this State I will confess my error. Pass this bill, and if there is a cent of money left in the treasury you will is a cent of money left in the treasury you will be compelled to spend it. You will have a row up the State all the time. In fifteen minutes we could pass a measure that would secure peace in the State. I would give the State Constable sufficient force, if it takes all the men in the State, to follow and pursue the men who are disturbing the peace in the Counties of Edgefield. Abbeville and Newberry; and if the people of those counties sympathize with that class men and hide and shield them, let them understand that there shall not be a living thing in all that locality; not a house, tree or anything be left to tell that anybody ever ocanything be left to tell that anybody over oc-cupied the spot. We can organize a mounted force, if necessary. If the conservative peo-ple of those counties do not want this war brought home to their own doors, let them in good faith support the laws, the Governor and the officers of the government, in a constitu-

the officers of the government, in a constitutional way.

The people may depend upon it that this bill, if it shall then pass, will pass in such modified form that little or no exception can be taker to it. I believe it is one of those sort of things that will do to keep, and that the best militia, in my judgment, that we could have, that could be had, is for this Legislature to pass wise and just lawe.

If I was one of those roaming characters of Edgefield, I could kill every Republican in this State before you could get the militia organized under this bill. It you want quick work, offer a resolution that the Governor issue
a proclamation calling upon all the fair-mi ided

a proclamation calling upon all the fair-mi ided men of Edgefield, Abbeville and Newberry men of Edgefield, Abbeville and Newberry and everywhere, to rally round the flag of the nation, stand by the laws as they are made, promising on our part to enact and maintain such laws as will operate fairly upon all people. The speaker in conclusion such laws as will operate fairly upon all people. The speaker, in conclusion, gave a graphic description of old militia musters and of their folly. He did not want militia in South Carolina if it could be avoided. They had them once, the pride of the State, and used to boast upon their honor and valor. But General Sherman, in his march, swooped them all up like a coop of chickens, took them to Hart Island, from whence but few returned to tell what bad been done with them.

In New York militia regiments are on a different footing. They are partly political or-ferent footing. They are partly political or-ganizations, and the splendor of their equip-ments would bankrupt any reasonable man in South Caroline. But imagine a thousand white men and a thousand negroes mustered for training, and whiskey in circulation. If you don't get the everlastingest fight before they are dismissed, you can do a great deal more than I can.

This is a bill of abominations, a jargon, a bill to create offices and not a bill for protection at all. It would turn out nothing but a tion at all. It would turn out nothing but a tax-paying machine, a heavy burden upon the people, and a constant evil in the State—any-thing but what we really need.

Wright followed in reply, and eaid they desired a militia b caus; the experience of the past had taught them that a militia is necessary for a free State. He moved that the motion to indefinitely postpone be laid on the table.

Mr. Leslie called for the year and navs, which were ordered, and are as follows:
Yeas—Messrs. Barber, Corbin, Greene, Hoyt, Hayne, Jillson, Lunney, Maxwell, Nash, Rajney, Ross, Swails, Wright and Wimbush—

the table. which the Senate adjourned.

Committee on the Judiciary, submitted the following report:

The Jadiciary Committee, to whom was referred a resolution of inquiry as to what lagislation is necessary to define duties of escheator, and whether an escheator living in one county can exercise jurisdiction in another, beg leave to report that they have carefully examined the laws of force on the subject in this State, and find them both ample and explicit as to the appointment, jurisdiction and duties of escheators. Statutes at Large, page 508, provide for the appointment by joint ballot of the Senate and House of Representatives of one escheator for each of the districts of this State, who shall continue in office four years, shall execute his office in proper person and not by deputy, and shall give bond with three good sureties for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office. From these acts your committee are of opinion that no person can exercise the office of an escheator for any county who has not been regularly appointed for that county and entered bond as required by law. Resolved. That in view of the many serious accidents reported in the newspapers from the use of other lights, and in the confident expectation that the public will sustain this Company in the reduction of the price of gas by an increased consumption, that after the expiration of the present month the price be reduced to FOUR DOLLARS PER THOUSAND FEET.

Resolved, Thatas ah additional inducement to new consumers, the Company will supply and put in at its own expense the service and supply pipe for the basement story of the house of any new applicant, under such regulations as the Board of Directors may establish.

AF THE MACHINE, CALLED MAN, IS A very complicated and delicate one, and is more liable to get out of order, and much more difficult to repair, than any combination of wheels and cranks and levers made by the hands of man. As a rule, it is tinkered too much, and badly tinkered at that. It is often calemelized, narcot'zed, depleted, and otherwise misused, when all that it really needs is a who'esome tonic and restorative like HOS LETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS to put it in proper trim and keep it so. The stomach is shamefully maltreated. In the first place, the food which its juices are inended to dissolve, 12 too frequently thrown into it hastily, and in a half-masticated condition, in which state the gastric acid cannot properly act upon it. The result is dyspepsia. Then comes the doctor, and, finding the digestive organs weak and the bowels inert, he proceeds to weaken und paralyze still more with drastic purgatives. These tending-as they always do-to produce a salutary change, he tells the invalid that medical science can do no more for him. This, with all due deference, is a mistakeone of those mistakes which Talleyrand said were tantamount to crimes. What the dyspeptic needs is invigoration. Strengthen the stomach with HOS-TETTER'S BIT (ERS, and the stomach will strengthen every other part of the human machine, and make it, in common parlance, as good as new. Upon the state of the digestion depends, in a moisu re, the condition of the whole system. Now, the Bitters are the most admirable tonic known. They consist of the finest vegetable invigorants and restoratives, combined with an unadulterate I stimulant. The dyspeptic needs nothing else to effect a curo, except a light, nutritious diet, and a fair amount of exercise. Even in the absence of these last mentioned accessories, the tonic and alterative properties of the preparation will work wonders, enabling the dyspeptic to digest inferior fare with comparative ease, and to maintain a good habit of body, in spite of the drawbacks of a sedentary occupation.
